

A Better Design for Engineering & Science Education

Join National Instruments
on Friday October 4th, 2013
from 9:00am till 12:00pm
at the LIU Beirut Campus (Room 202 G)

Get introduced to the NI Graphical Development Software and NI Hardware Products, and their application in the different engineering and science topics

National Instruments (NI) is a pioneer in technology and leader in virtual instrumentation. It consists of a revolutionary concept that has transformed the way engineers and scientists perceive measurement and automation, in industrial, governmental, as well as academic and education sectors.

